

Burbank is facing an unprecedented public health and economic crisis. The harm inflicted upon the entertainment industry, our airport, and the small businesses and workers that depend on those industries present a unique set of challenges in terms of how and when to safely reopen our local economy. I believe that now is the time for a fresh perspective and forward-thinking leadership to create a bold economic recovery plan for our community.

As a Deputy Attorney General, I have dedicated my entire career to public service. I've decided to run for Burbank City Council because I want to help restore what we have lost as a result of this pandemic and to create good-paying jobs with benefits for every Burbankian.

As a city we need to get creative and find ways to help our neighbors pay the rent or mortgage, access quality healthcare and childcare, keep their jobs, save our small businesses, and build back better and stronger.

I love our community and I want to make sure that our children inherit a city that is safe, affordable, livable, and sustainable.

My name is Nick Schultz and I humbly ask for your vote on November 3rd for Burbank City Council.
