City of Burbank Investment Portfolio Report for April 2026 Dated June 2, 2026

Dear City Council Members
Justin Hess, City Manager
Courtney Padgett, Assistant City Manager
Jennifer Becker, Financial Services Director
Joe Lillio, CFO Burbank Water & Power

This report fulfills City, Youth Endowment Services Fund, Parking Authority, Public Financing Authority, Successor Agency to the Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority resolutions.

CITY PORTFOLIO OVERVIEW

The City must maintain $127 million in liquidity at all times (maturities within one year plus real estate taxes due from the County in April and December) to meet our projected budgeted expenditures. We currently have $452 million in liquidity, with $7 million in our account at the California Asset Management Program, $208 million in LAIF, $3 million in our account at the Morgan Stanley Institutional Liquidity Fund – Government Portfolio, $175 million in investments maturing within a year and $59 million in real estate taxes due in April and December.

The City Investment Pool ended April at $733 million, up from March's balance of $729 million. Market value came in at 99.9% in April, flat from 99.9% in March. The weighted average yield of the portfolio at cost at the end of the month is 3.55%.

Credit News

On May 18, S&P's downgraded National Securities Clearing Corp.'s rating from AA+ to AA, while changing its outlook from negative to stable, stating that "clearing risks are evolving at National Securities Clearing Corp. (NSCC) following continued growth in equity trading, which has increased risks during peak periods and increased the concentration of equity trading among the largest members. As a result, we think NSCC is unlikely to maintain sufficient liquidity to consistently meet hypothetical needs in a Cover 2 stress scenario (whereby the largest two clearing members default jointly). We still expect NSCC will maintain sufficient liquidity to meet hypothetical needs in a Cover 1 stress scenario with a high level of confidence. NSCC's very strong competitive position as the sole clearinghouse for cash equities, ETFs, and municipal and corporate bonds in the U.S. continues to support the rating. The stable outlook reflects our expectations that the company's financial safeguards would continue to provide substantial protection against member default in extreme but plausible market conditions and that liquidity will remain sufficient for a Cover 1 stress scenario, as required by regulators.

On May 19, S&P's revised The Hershey Co.'s outlook from negative to stable, while affirming its rating, stating that "U.S.-based The Hershey Co. outperformed S&P Global Ratings' expectations over the last year, including by sustaining leverage of 2x or below following its acquisition of LesserEvil, despite headwinds from elevated cocoa costs and weak consumer sentiment. The company's increased profits in fiscal years 2026 and 2027, supported by cocoa price deflation and steady revenue growth, will enable it to maintain leverage of less than 2x even as it resumes share repurchases. Though Hershey remains vulnerable to cocoa price volatility, hedging strategies provide good visibility into margin expansion. While the company could pursue opportunistic acquisitions, we expect financial policies will remain supportive of the current ratings.”

MARKET OUTLOOK

The latest CPI report for April showed that inflation came in higher than expected again at 3.8%, the highest in three years. With the war in the Middle East, the increase was primarily driven by energy prices, which were up 18% from a year earlier. Within it, gasoline jumped 28% and fuel oil was up 54%. Airfares were also up 21% from last year. With higher natural gas prices, fertilizer costs have also increased, affecting food prices. More notably, also due to bad weather and tariffs, tomatoes are now 40% more expensive from a year earlier. Wages are now struggling to keep up with inflation. Inflation-adjusted average hourly earnings for all private employees fell by 0.3% for the year ending April 2026, seasonally adjusted. This marked the first time that prices have outpaced annual wage growth in the US since April 2023.

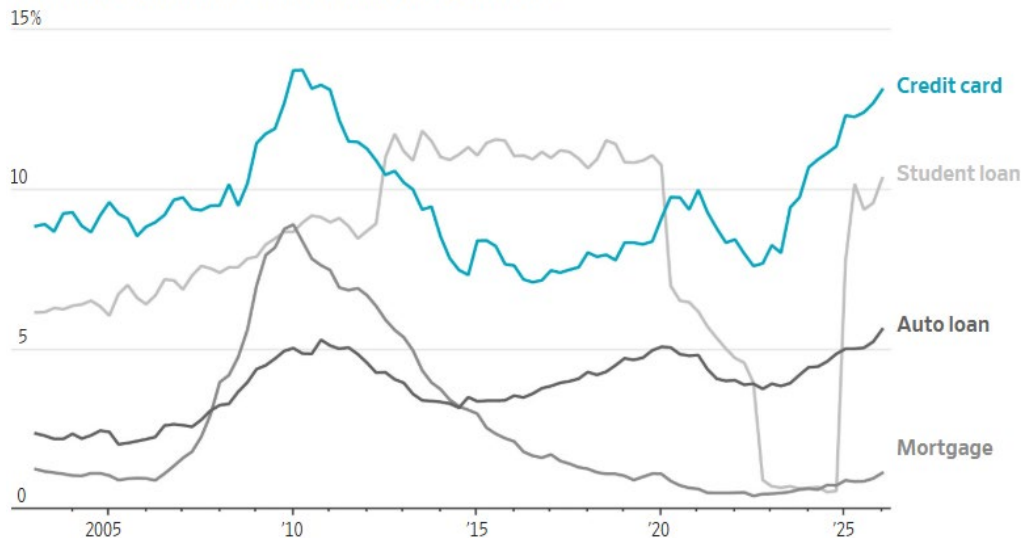

More Americans are now having to incur debt to afford their living expenses. The percentage of credit-card balances that were at least 90 days delinquent jumped up to 13% in the first quarter of 2026, the highest level in 15 years. The latest consumer sentiment index from the University of Michigan shows that May’s level at 44.2 is now the lowest on record, with the cost of living being the major concern. Perceptions of the economy are worse now than how people felt about economic conditions during the 1970s inflation, the Great Recession, the pandemic, and other shocks. A big factor seems to be that people are now having to change their behaviors and forego unnecessary spending to account for higher prices.

Tracking US consumer sentiment

The Index of Consumer Sentiment in the US was down in May by about 10% from April. It was below the 20-year average. The index is derived from surveys that ask Americans about their current financial situation and their expectations for the future. A higher index value suggests that consumers are confident, while a lower value indicates caution or pessimism.

From skimping at the grocery store to taking on second jobs, here's what Americans are doing to get by

Q: As a result of recent economic conditions, have you, personally, experienced any of the following in the past few months?

Methodology note: The latest CNN poll was conducted by SSRS from April 30 to May 4, 2026 among a random national sample of 1,499 US adults drawn from a probability-based panel. Surveys were either conducted online or by telephone with a live interviewer. Results shown in this chart have a margin of sampling error of  $\pm 2.8$  percentage points.
