City of Burbank Investment Portfolio Report for July 2026 Dated September 3, 2026

Dear City Council Members
Justin Hess, City Manager
Courtney Padgett, Assistant City Manager
Jennifer Becker, Financial Services Director
Joe Lillio, CFO Burbank Water & Power

This report fulfills City, Youth Endowment Services Fund, Parking Authority, Public Financing Authority, Successor Agency to the Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority resolutions.

CITY PORTFOLIO OVERVIEW

The City must maintain $127 million in liquidity at all times (maturities within one year plus real estate taxes due from the County in April and December) to meet our projected budgeted expenditures. We currently have $365 million in liquidity, with $7 million in our account at the California Asset Management Program, $106 million in LAIF, $193 million in investments maturing within a year and $59 million in real estate taxes due in April and December.

The City Investment Pool ended July at $687 million, down from June's balance of $757 million, with the decline primarily due to the annual CalPERS payment in July. Market value came in at 99.3% in July, slightly down from 99.6% in June. The weighted average yield of the portfolio at cost at the end of the month is 3.73%.

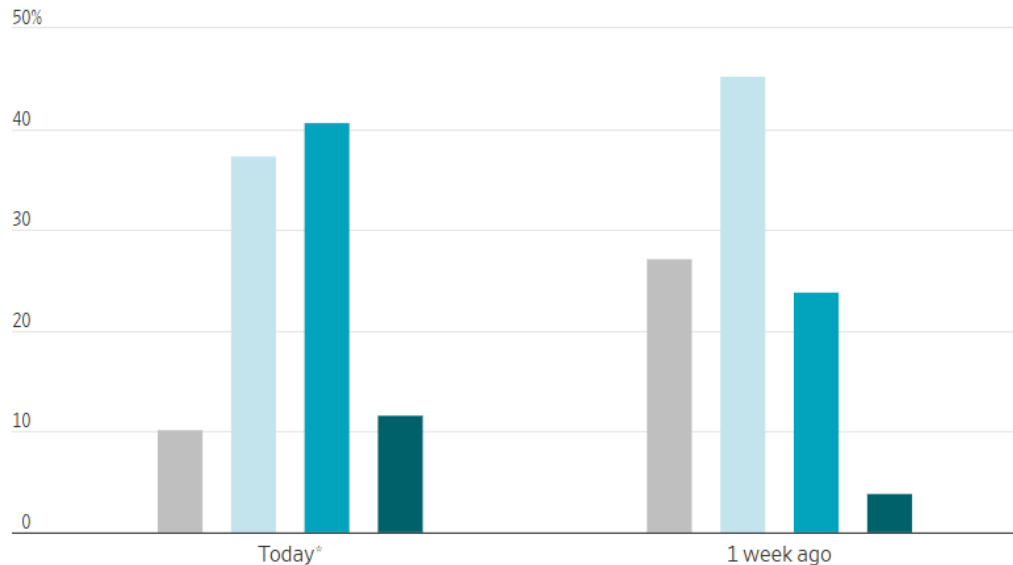

MARKET OUTLOOK

The Federal Reserve held its annual Jackson Hole summit at the end of August. During the meeting, Fed Chair Warsh delivered unexpectedly hawkish remarks. Given the Fed's dual mandate of maximum employment and stable prices, he mentioned that "on the employment side of the Fed's dual mandate, our country is doing well. Labor markets are quite stable. The jobless rate, at 4.1%, remains low by historical standards... Unemployment claims, on a four-week average—an empirically robust real-time indicator—are near their lowest level in decades." However, he added that "on the price-stability side of our mandate, the numbers are more concerning... While this summer's PCE and CPI readings were better than expected, they do not tell me that underlying trends have meaningfully improved. The Fed's preferred measure of inflation, the 12-month change in the PCE price index, stands at 3.7%, while the six-month change is 4.1%... The Fed's price-stability objective of 2%, as measured by the personal consumption expenditures (PCE) price index, is a firm, fixed target. Price stability is not self-executing, nor is inflation necessarily mean-reverting. It is the Fed's job to deliver stable prices." He also added that "on balance, I would be hard pressed to describe broad financial conditions as restrictive." Before the meeting, investors expected the Fed to keep interest rates steady unless incoming economic data signaled a need for a change. With the shift in tone, markets now believe it is more likely that the Federal Reserve will raise rates during its next meeting in September. However, it will also highly depend on inflation data that will be released a few days before the meeting.

With inflation fears not just in the United States, but around the world, global bond yields have continued to increase, hitting multiyear highs in just the past week. The ongoing war in the Middle East is a major factor, with expectations that high energy prices will result in more inflation. For example, diesel prices in the U.S. have climbed back to recent highs. Since diesel fuels commercial trucks, farm tractors, and construction equipment, this spike could make everyday goods and services more expensive, as businesses pass on costs to customers. There are also growing concerns about how much debt countries have, and investors are now demanding higher compensation for the increased risk. US debt recently hit $40 Trillion with national debt at 123% of GDP. The International Monetary Fund forecasts that the US budget deficit will reach 7.5% of GDP this year and remain there until 2030. However, it is not limited to the US as many advanced economies also have rising debt, and while their deficits are lower in general, their forecasted growth rates are also lower compared to the US. It remains to be seen whether we are entering a new era of normal levels for bond markets. Fiscal sustainability remains a big question and only time will tell if these shifts represent a temporary disruption or the permanent foundation of a reshaped economic landscape.
