

City of Burbank Filming vs. Culver City

The City of Burbank issued almost five times as many permits as Culver City in the past two years. Burbank received 932 permit applications in 2024 and 1,066 film permit applications in 2023; Culver City received 193 permit applications in 2024 and 190 in 2023.

▪ Culver City Filming Incentive Pilot Program:

Culver City launched their Filming Incentives Pilot Program with the five key changes:

	Culver City Incentives	What would it look like in Burbank
Fee Rollback:	Film permit and staffing fees reduced to December 2024 fees as of December 1, 2025	Burbank hasn't increased film fees since 2020
Incentive Fund:	Maximum $500,000 to subsidize film and staffing fees in one fiscal year	Burbank does not recover full costs for film-related services. EX: undercharging $30/hour for police staffing
Free Parking:	Free production parking at two sites and downtown structures	Burbank does not charge for parking in structures; City can look at waiving $5/4-hr/space in City-owned lots
Business Tax:	10-year extension of business tax suspension for itinerant film/TV producers (until 2036)	CDD would have to assess and address tax suspension options
New Resources:	City will create a film-related vendor directory and location familiarization tour	Burbank has been working to create a film-related vendor directory and location library
